About the partnership

Tinder Foundation is working with Computer Aid to bring discounted IT equipment to local UK online centres, and their learners. Through the partnership, thousands of people will be able to benefit from equipment that they can use at home.

As a member of the UK online centres network, helping people gain basic online skills, this partnership enables you to extend your services. You can now offer your learners this equipment to continue their training and access the internet.

Computer Aid is an ICT for development (ICT4D) charity that aims at helping resource-poor communities to access digital information and build skills that will improve their lives. Our projects vary from education, health, agriculture, gender equality, governance and post-crisis relief.

During the last 15 years, we have sent over 230,000 computers in 113 countries, working mostly in Africa.

Equipment information

The minimum specifications of the machines are:

- iCore 3 or above processor
- 2 GB RAM
